MAGEE BILL OF SPECIAL IMPORTANCE TO VALLEY

Measure for Ship Canal Approved by Governor Tener

INTERESTS COAL TRADE

Would be Big Boom to Industry--Other Important Bills Acted Upon

(Special Correspondence)

Harrisburg, April 14—By reason of the benefit to the coal trade in his valley, considerable importance is attached locally to the "Magee Canal Bill" which was approved by Governor J. K. Tener yesterday. The bill was designed to promote the construction of the Lake Erie and Ohio ship canal, and the sponsor was Assemblyman McInerney of Allegheny county.

The bill permits any county to appropriate money or issue bonds in aid of construction of public canals. Counties may also join with other counties, with the Commonwealth, with other States or with the United States.

No county can extend assistance except to a canal which is exclusively a public enterprise under public management and operation. Each county assisting is to receive its proportionate share of any net earnings from the canal. The bill provides the machinery whereby any county along the route of a canal or connected therewith by railway or navigable waters, may extend assistance. If 100 resident taxpayers and qualified electors petition the quarter sessions court that the credit of the county be extended the court is to order an election if satisfied that it will benefit the county. The county commissioners or any other citizen may file objections to such a petition and then a hearing must be held.

If the majority of voters approve the proposition at the election the county commissioners must issue bonds; if the proposition be rejected two years must elapse before a similar election can be held.

The McNichol bill prohibiting lascivious, immoral and indecent theatrical or picture shows under penalty of $1,000 fine and one year in jail was also approved.

The Meyer bill providing for maintenance and quadennial inspection of boundary the monuments was vetoed because the Governor is not convinced of the necessity for such legislation.

MONEY PROVIDED FOR NEW SCHOOLS

A return of the electors held in Marianna to decide the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $35,000 for school purposes has been made. The voters decided favorable. It is proposed to purchase from the Pittsburg-Buffalo Co., the land and school building there at Marianna.

Hickman Thought to Have Had Assistance in Making His Escape

Judge Richard S. Holt of Beaver county directed District Attorney J. Blaine McGowan yesterday to prepare an indictment to present to the grand jury for the latter today and the district attorney to make an investigation for the purpose of fixing the responsibility on the person or persons connected with the escape of Charles Hickman from jail there Wednesday morning. A confidence was held yesterday between the county commissioners, the district attorney, Sheriff Hartzell and attorneys representing the commissioners and the sheriff, it was rumored, for the purpose of asking Hartzell's resignation. Hickman wanted to bet $3 he would escape again.

SALOONS NOT TO BE CLOSED ON HOIDAYS

Judge Taylor Hands Down Opinion Stating Court is Without Authority to Grant Request

Judge J. F. Taylor—yesterday handed down a written opinion refusing to grant the request petitioned for by residents of Washington county, chiefly from Monongahela, asking that liquor license holders close their bars on certain holidays. The petition was backed by the Ministerial Association and the G. A. R. of Monongahela, and was largely signed by citizens elsewhere in the county. The holidays designated on which it was desired to have the bars close were New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

According to the opinion of the court the latter has no legal right to grant the request. Judge Taylor states that for the court to make a condition precedent to granting a license would be the rankest kind of judicial legislation. This is a function in no sense to be exercised by the court, no matter how much the latter may be in sympathy with the matter sought. The law is cited which, in the opinion of the court, is not vested in the discretionary powers in granting or refusing a license.

Judge Taylor's opinion was also concurred in by Judge J. A. McIlvaine.

WILL OPEN NEW MINES

Crucible Coal Company Preparing to Start Operation

WILL SHIP COAL BY RIVER

Mines, to be most complete in every respect, are to be opened soon along the Monongahela river, about one and a half miles above Rices Landing in Greene county, by the Crucible Coal company. The coal land, taken recently by this company from the holdings of J. V. Thompson and his associates, amounts to 2,000 acres. Under this acreage the vein of coal averages eight feet in thickness and contains a total of 20,000,000 tons of good coking coal.

On account of the slack water navigation which will be available, the mines are expected to an important adjunct to the coal business in the valley. No coal will be mined for market, all to be shipped mainly by river to other points for use by the Crucible Steel company.

SPRING OPENING LARGELY ATTENDED

Constant streams of humanity pouring in the door and the happy faces to be seen as people made their departure, bore testimony to the popularity of Wagners' Ice Cream parlor, where the annual spring opening was held yesterday afternoon and evening. Tasteful in all details and characterized by the up-to-date manner in which everything was carried out, was this particular event.

The interior was decorated, and to each visitor was given a beautiful souvenir in the shape of a yellow daffodil. During the afternoon and evening the grand new player piano rendered music well adopted to please the musical tastes of the visitors. Delightful extras were served in addition to the regular menu of ice cream and beverages.

EASTER CANTATA WILL BE GIVEN

A cantata, "The Conquering King," by Lorenz, is being prepared by the choir of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church will be given on Sunday evening as a special Easter feature at the Washington Avenue church. ALL NAMES APPROVED

Executive Committee of League Settles Disputed Matters

OTHER BASEBALL MATTERS

The Executive Committee of the Church Baseball league last night finished up the work of approving the lists of players furnished by the different managers. Some names had been held over and these were decided upon.

Peter Haywood was declared eligible to play with the Baptists. George Might was awarded to the First Presbyterians, Bert Osborne to the Baptists, Cardon Jimeson to the Methodists, and Mike Walchuk to the Washington Avenues. Some of these names had been handed in by two different teams. William Irwin was declared eligible to play with the Washington Avenues. Berry and Cornell will have to qualify to be able to play with the Christians, and Kuhn to play with the Episcopals, on account of supposedly playing professional ball.

Chief Scorer Paul Ryland has named for his assistant Prof I. T. Daniel, Floyd Chalfant, "Bob" Allen and James Ryland. In order to give him more power the ground keeper will likely be sworn in a special officer.

Speers

The Easter program will be rendered at the M. E. church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All is in readiness and the committee, James Collins, Mrs. C. K. Chalfant and Miss Myrtle Clendenon report that though many children are sick the program will still be a success.

The sale at H. H. Duvall's this week was attended by a large crowd and everything sold at the top of the market; especially was this true of the horses. Mr. Duvall has purchased the Walter McKean property in Charleroi and will move his family their next week.

King Chalfant is having some improvements made on the house occupied by Dan Doherty. He is enlarging the kitchen and building a new porch at the rear of the house.

TAP HOUSES REFUSED THE RIGHT TO SELL LIQUOR

Judge Taylor Hands Down Opinion in Two Cases

JUDGE M'ILLVAIN CONCURS

Refusal Based on Strict Construction of the Brooks Law

The two tap houses, one at Ellsworth and one at Cokeburg, have been refused liquor licenses for the coming year. Opinions in the cases were handed down by the court at Washington yesterday written by Judge J. F. Taylor, before whom the arguments were heard. Judge McIlvaine later filed concurring opinions. The action of the court is considered a great victory for the Anti-Saloon League and Jerome Plummer Temperance Fund forces.

The opinions are rendered on motions made by the anti-liquor forces, to have the applications quashed, for the reason that other than the applicants were pecuniarily interested in these bar rooms and for that reason they were clearly a violation of the Brooks law. The Brooks law requires that none except the person named in the application for a license, shall be pecuniarily interested in the license.

The arguments were made on Monday. Attorneys Harry F. Moore and H. D. Hamilton appeared for the temperance people. Attorney R. W. Irwin, counsel for the Ellsworth Collieries company, argued for the applicants.

The application from Ellsworth is made in the name of H. John Knitzer, and from Cokeburg in the name of William Lodwick. Ellsworth and Cokeburg have had licenses at these tap houses ever since the two towns were established. An agreement referred to in the application was the point upon which the temperance forces made their fight against the applications. The men applying were simply paid a salary and the profits from the bars were paid into a trust fund for the benefit of the boroughs of Ellsworth and Cokeburg.

The refusal of these two licenses means that in three of the big coal towns of the county there will be no bars after May 1. The Marianna bar was refused a renewal of its license at the last license court, and now these two at Ellsworth and Cokeburg will have to close after May 1. The license at Fredericktown was also knocked out at the last license court, and that bar will close up the first of May.

DEAD MAN MISSING DOCTOR?

Investigations Being Made in Mysterious Death

WAS KNOWN AS REES LEWIS

It is expected that investigations now being made by Monessen authorities into the identity of a man who died at the Grand Hotel there will lead to the discovery that he was Dr. William H. Gray, a prominent practicing physician of Washington, D. C. He arrived in Monessen on Tuesday morning and registered at the Grand Hotel under the name of A. Rees Lewis and said he was from Natrona.

Some days ago a circular was received from Chief of Police Richard Sylvester of Washington, D. C., by the local police officials in which it stated that Dr. William H. Gray had become demented and had disappeared.

When the body was removed from the hotel to the undertaking rooms last night it was remarked by the police that the picture which had been sent them from Washington resembled the dead man. An examination of the clothing and papers found on him is said to have confirmed the suggestion that the dead man was the missing physician.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Bobby Wallace, New Manager of St. Louis Americans.

The ability of Bobby Wallace to make good as the manager of the St. Louis Browns is the popular topic of the fans in the Mound City at the present time. Bobby has always been a good ball player, and his record on the field is one that the best of the diamond stars might be proud of. His friends feel sure that he will be equally successful in his new berth, provided he is given full power over the players. Of course Wallace may not bring the Browns up from last place to champions in a year, but his handling of the team will pave the way for first class results in following seasons. Wallace belongs to the silent class of ball players, his methods being those of Frank Chance and Connie Mack rather than the blustery, noisy sort. He has delivered his ultimatum to the players, and the latter will have to knuckle down and deliver the goods if they expect to get along with the new manager.

Goulding After Olympic Title.

George Goulding, the famous walker, who broke the American record for walking two miles in New York recently, is pointing for the Olympic games, which will be held in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1912. Despite the fact that Goulding is breaking records at the present time, he is not now at the top of his form. The Toronto wonder is conserving his energy for next year, and, beyond taking long walks and going into a race now and then, Goulding is doing very little athletic work. Goulding's hopes are all for the Swedish Olympiad. It is his intense desire to win the walking events at Stockholm in world's record time and then retire as an undefeated champion.

Strange as it may seem, Goulding does not especially fear the British walkers who will start at the coming Olympiad, but, rather, some of the men who have recently come to the front in Australia.

Chess Men to Go Abroad.

Appreciating the good showing made by American representatives, particularly Capablanca and Marshall, in chess tourneys abroad, Europeans are disposed to extend the hand of fellowship to others of the experts of this country with a view to their participating in future international congresses.

The next tourney scheduled to be held on the other side will be at Carlsbad, in Bohemia, next August.

Victor Tietz, president of the Carlsbad Chess club, has written to New York experts inquiring about Oscar Chajes of Chicago and Charles Jaffe of New York, who finished just below Marshall and Capablanca in the recent national masters' tournament and tied for third and fourth prizes. It is the intention of the Carlsbad committee to invite both of these clever experts and give them an opportunity to show their ability in an international contest.

Thompson to Compete Again.

Fred Thompson, who won the all around championships at Chicago last fall, says he is anxious to compete again for the title and that he will soon start training at Princeton.

"The biggest reason for causing me to wish to enter the all around meet this year is not the lure of the game, but to feel that I have had a fair chance at Sheridan's record," says Thompson. "It is a very easy thing to argue from a qualified success in the past to an unqualified and unfounded success in the future, but I feel fair in thinking that I will be able to score 800 points."

"This will be my last attempt," says Thompson, who is a theological student at Princeton. "I do not care particularly for athletics in general, but believe I can make a score in the all arounds that will better the record by a few hundred points."

Pitcher Has Jaw Breaking Name.

A Crow's Stratagem.

A crow had been captured by the children in a southern family and brought home and tamed. They were very fond of the crow and treated it with kindness. As in most houses where there are children, there was also a pet cat. The cat and crow were not friendly. One day an unusually nice morsel was given to the cat. This the crow not only looked at with envious eyes, but made several attempts to secure. The cat beat off each attempt, however, and the crow had to resort to stratagem. Disappearing through the open door, he returned in a few moments with a long string that had been raveled from a rag carpet. Placing this on the floor some little distance in front of the cat, he proceeded to wriggle it as he had seen the children do when playing with the cat. The cat instantly jumped to catch the string. This was, of course, exactly what the crow wanted, and he pounced upon the coveted morsel and flew away with it.—Harper's Weekly.

Parsimony and Economy.

"Papa," said a child, "what is the difference between parsimony and economy?"

"I will explain the difference by an example," the father replied. "If I cut down my own expenses that is economy, but if I cut down your mother's then it is parsimony."

His Suggestion.

The great road builder had his mind on his work that morning, as the following dialogue between him and his wife will show:

"How do I look, dear?"

"Fairly well, but I should say that your face needed resurfacing."—New York Press.

Two Faults.

"You hunt too much," said Louis XV. to the archbishop of Narbonne. "How can you prohibit your curates from hunting if you pass your life in setting them such an example?"

"Sire," said Dillon, "for my curates the chase is a fault; for myself it is the fault of my ancestors."

James A. O'Gorman, who was elected senator from New York to succeed Chauncey M. Depew, is a Democrat and for the past eleven years has been on the bench of the supreme court of New York.

In 1902 O'Gorman was elected grand sachem of the Tammany society. This is a much coveted position, carrying with it great honor, but little power. The grand sachem of Tammany Hall is theoretically the leader of the organization.

Since then Justice O'Gorman has been honored by two universities. In 1904 he was made an LL.D. by Villanova college, and in 1908 a like degree was bestowed upon him by the University of the City of New York.

Justice O'Gorman has always been a warm advocate of organized labor. He is a prominent member of the Catholic club and was chairman of the board of trustees of the '98 Centennial association, a national movement designed to perpetuate the patriotic memories of the Irish rebellion of 1798.

The new senator is a native of New York city and is fifty-one years old. He is a graduate of the College of the City of New York and of the New York University Law School. In 1892 he was elected justice of the district court and on the expiration of his term was elevated to the supreme bench.

Culberson's Inquiry.

Senator Charles A. Culberson of Dallas, Tex., was once making a political speech, and some of his auditors showed a disposition to "heckle" him, as they say in England. After a rhetorical pause (according to the tale as it is told around the capitol) a man in the audience asked:

"Do you drink?"

Without any hesitation the senator responded quickly:

"Is that an inquiry or an invitation?"

It was in Texas, and the audience roared.

Mr. Pujo of Louisiana.

Congressman Arsene P. Pujo of Louisiana, chairman of the committee on banking and currency in the Sixty-second congress, has served three terms in the national legislature. In the last congress Mr. Pujo was ranking minority member on this committee, so by seniority as well as by ability he was entitled to be exalted. In organizing the new house committee the Democratic members of ways and means have generally recognized the rule of priority in giving out chairmanships, but not in all cases, so there has been grumbling in some quarters.

Banking and currency is one of the big committees of the house. During the extra session its duties will probably be only nominal, but when the monetary commission hands in its report to the regular session there will be work a-plenty. Representative Pujo is a native of Louisiana and is in his fiftieth year. He is of French descent and is a lawyer by profession. He was a member of the Louisiana constitutional convention of 1898, serving on the judiciary committee of that body.

Playing Politics

In placing the advertising of the mercantile appraisers list, the county commissioners have shown themselves to be strictly in the political game. In the hope of placating certain newspaper influences that were hostile to them on the occasion of their nomination and election for their first term, and which were understood to be preparing to inaugurate a vigorous campaign against their renomination, the commissioners turned over to their whilom enemies a large and profitable amount of business. The administration newspapers of the Monongahela valley that fought the battles for the present board of commissioners, who could not have been nominated without the support received in this section, have been totally ignored, and the newspaper that was most bitterly and offensively hostile to John K. Tener, both in his Congressional and Gubernatorial campaigns, is rewarded.

In addition to the valley newpapers feeling sore over this exhibition of political ingratitude, the people of this community have also been dealt with unfairly. The mercantile appraiser's list contains information that is interesting and instructive to the public. This section is largely represented in the list, yet the person who seeks information concerning it must go to considerable trouble to get it. The object of advertising the list is presumably to serve the public, but the present board of commissioners evidently are of the opinion it is a proper medium for serving political ends. That could be the only reason for placing the advertising in two Washington newspapers, instead of seeking to place it so that it would cover at least the most populous section of the county.

Hope For Pittsburg

Pittsburg and Boston are the only American cities which have considered the problem of city planning in a practical way, according to Professor George B. Ford of Columbia. Lerturing before a popular audience recently Professo Ford said: "It is strange that the most practical Nation in the world should heed the cry of the 'city beautiful' rather than for the 'city logical, convenient, healthful and business-like.' There are seventy or eighty cities in America that have taken up city planning, but only two have treated the subject in a comprehensive, practical way. One of the two is perhaps America's most business-like city, the other is her most artistic. Pittsburg and Boston alone have kept prominently before them in planning for their futures that a city is essentially a place to live and work in.

"Thus, attention has been given to housing, transit and transportation by land and by water and to the location of factories. Recreational features, such as playgrounds, neighborhood centers and the location of baths, gymnasiums, libraries etc., have been considered in relation to housing. The proper distribution of parks and boulevards and city embellishments has been taken up with strict reference to the foregoing features.

"It is only by proceeding on a program of this sort that a city can fulfil its duty toward the next generation."

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Helen pink may have succeeded Alice Blue, but it is noticed that Hetty Green is still on the job.

When a title to millions hinges on a court, it's a safe bet that the lawyers who hang around the court will get their share.

It was thought that some of the members of Uniontown council would be ousted because they did not reorganize, but no such terrible thing has happened yet.

The music composer who thinks that he works hard grinding out the heavy compositions ought to get a glimpse into a daily newspaper office while the heavy work is in progress.

If that man Hickman escapes a few more times, he will be noted enough to command the respect of millionaire bankers.

There is always latent talent in every person. Harry Thaw had his in escaping the gallows, and Jack Johnson in licking Jeffries. But both are imprisoned, and the former is declared insane, so that's the difference.

If genius is merely perspiration, there is no reason why those hard-working Mexican insurgents should not be classed with some of the famed men of former ages.

If those rich fellows who get their money questionably would only have conscience before instead of after, it would suit the human race better.

Municipalities can build their own water works according to a recent decision. But that doesn't say that they are going to very quickly.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

In the May number of the Cosmopolitan in the "Story Tellers' Hall of Fun," appears the following about Governor John K. Tener:

"John K. Tener, the new Governor of Pennsylvania, is an inveterate smoker, and choice as to his selection of cigars. Lighting a Havana recently, he said:

"'The Londoners are indifferent about their tobacco—indifferent and blase, like an omnibus conductor I saw in Oxford street.

"'You know the London omnibus? It is a double decker. If you sit on top you must go up and down by a very steep stairway.

"'Well, this blase conductor pulled up his bus at Regent Circus and the ladies bound for Peter Robinson's eagerly got out. But one fat lady, who had been sitting on top, came down the steep and winding stairs very slowly. Her skirt flopped around her ankles, and at every step she stopped and thrust it carefully down. The conductor waited with a bored expression, his hand on the bell rope, but he lost patience when the fat lady stopped for the fifth or sixth time to thrust down her billowing skirt, and he burst out angrily:

"'Now, then, lydy, 'urry up, can't yer? Figgers ain't no treat to me!'"

In the same number is another good story—about Governor Tener's Attorney General, John C. Bell, who according to Executive Controller Samuel S. Todd, is a most excellent and capable official. The story is told by Justice John P. Elkin of the State SupremeCourt, who was a schoolmate of Mr. Bell.

"John," says Justice Elkin, "was a stubborn youth, and the teacher had all kinds of trouble with him. I remember he insisted on saying 'have went,' and to correct him the teacher compelled him to remain after school one day and write 'have gone' three hundred times.'

"After scribbling 'have gone' until his hand ached, John appended this note to the bottom of the sheet of paper

"I have done my work and have went home.'"

THE VALLEY NEWS

Abraham Guggenslocker's hoss got run over by the kyars. Sally Snigglefritz's speckled hen had the croup last night. Troubles! Troubles!! Troubles!!! Read below and you'll forget your troubles:

HOW THE STORY WAS FINISHED

The Office Hack Gets a Start In Literature.

The editorial staff of the Pacific Magazine consisted of, first, the editor and proprietor, Edward Farnham, capitalist and litterateur; two readers and a young man named Arthur Otis, who did odd jobs in the "making up" that were not considered of sufficient importance to take up the time of the others.

One day Mr. Farnham laid a manuscript novel on Otis' desk and said: "There's a novel by Donald Fox. I want you to go over it and get it ready for the printer." Mr. Farnham usually gave his orders to Otis especially, without comment, but today he was very much pleased and added: "We must begin that in May. I've been keeping a place for it. Anything by Fox will increase the circulation 50 per cent. It ought to. It cost 10 cents a word for the serial right alone. This is the best thing, in my judgment, he's ever done; a new departure; not a bit in his usual style."

Otis never made a reply to anything the head of the concern said. He took the manuscript and began to work upon it immediately. The next day he took it to his chief and pointed out what he considered a defect, suggesting that it be referred back to the author to be changed. Mr. Farnham scowled, examined the pages referred to and told Otis that he was not employed to tell eminent writers how to write novels.

When Otis had concluded his work he laid the manuscript on Mr. Farnham's desk and remarked:

"I see, sir, that the work is not finished."

"Mr. Fox has promised to have it all in by the required time."

"But, sir," said the clerk, as a shade of anxiety passed over his face, "don't you fear that if anything should happen to Mr. Fox"—

"Well?" said the manager in icy tone.

"Could any one else finish it?"

"No, but I'm going to take the risk."

In due time the story appeared, and its reception was far beyond what the manager had looked for. The criticisms were fine, all critics noting the new departure of the author.

One day when the story had been running six months Otis noticed a gentleman whom he was told was the celebrated Donald Fox talking with the manager. After the visitor had gone Mr. Farnham brought a package to Otis' desk.

"The closing chapters of Fox's great novel," he said.

The next morning Otis stood by his chief's desk waiting permission to speak.

"Well?" said the manager, looking up.

"Have you read these chapters of Mr. Fox's novel?" asked the understrapper.

"No."

"They are entirely unlike the rest. The public will not believe Mr. Fox wrote them. They are very abrupt."

It was on the chief's tongue to tell his subordinate to attend to his own business, but the last words changed the impulse. Since the author was to be paid 10 cents a word for the work it would not be to his interest to close it abruptly.

"Leave it," said the chief.

For the next few days Otis sat at his desk surrounded by a cyclone. From what he overheard he judged that Fox had confessed that he had hired a literary man who had done some good work to write the story at 5 cents a word. The author had been taken ill and died when the work was about two-thirds finished. Fox had hurriedly written the last chapters himself.

As soon as he gathered this information Otis walked humbly to the chief's desk.

"Would you like, sir, Mr. Fox's novel continued in the same vein as the earlier chapters?"

"Like it? We're in the biggest hole"—

He stopped short. He remembered that Otis had warned him of this very possibility.

"Was there any understanding with Mr. Fox as to the length of the story?" asked Otis.

Farnham looked at the young man with amazement. None of his employees had ever dared ask him about the terms of his contracts before.

"Do you know your business?"

"Yes, sir. But"—

"Well, do it, and let other people's business alone."

"I've understood that Mr. Fox was to get 10 cents a word and that he sublet the work for 5 cents a word, but I don't know how long the story was to be."

"Well, sir, why should you know?"

"Because—the fact is, Mr. Farnham, I'm interested."

"Interested! You impudent"—

"Yes, sir; pecuniarily interested. You see, Mr. Farnham, Mr. Fox got 10 cents a word and sublet it to Andy Nichols at 5 cents. Nichols sublet it to me at 2 cents a word. That's pretty poor pay, you know, but if I'm to be permitted to string it out I can make a good thing after all."

There was a dead silence in the editorial rooms for thirty seconds. Then the chief said:

"Run it to suit yourself at 10 cents a word."

And that's how Arthur Otis got his start in literature.

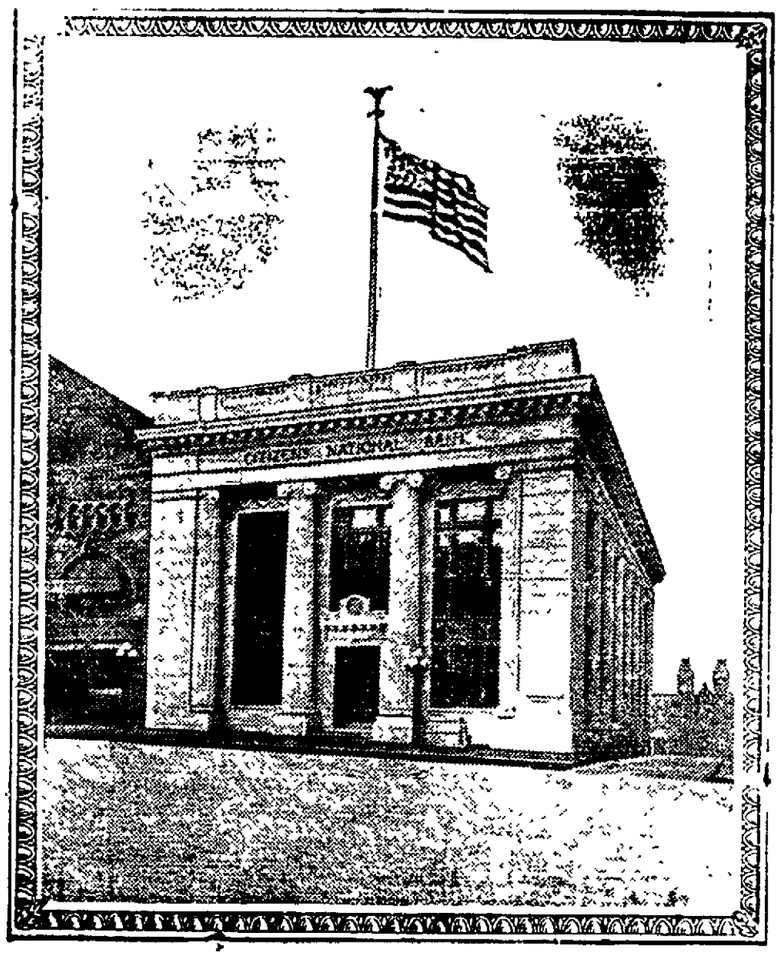
MAGNIFICIENT NEW BANK BUILDING NOW READY

Beautiful Marble Structure To Be Opened Saturday. Every Facility Offered to Depositors—A Credit to Washington County



Patrons and friends of the Citizens National Bank will be welcomed to inspect the new building rooms and safe deposit vaults on Saturday from 9 a. m., to 9 p.m.

It will be worth while to look over the new home of this institution which has been established so many years and which is one of the strongest national banks of the country.

The magnificient new bank building represents, with the lot, an investment of at least $300,000. Architecturally it is the most beautiful and symmetrical banking building in the country and will forever stand as a monument to the enterprise, good judgment and excellent taste of the present officers and directors of the institution.

The exterior of the building is of the very best of white polished tooled marble, while in the interior, every piece of polished wood work, every section of the marble, the bronze trimmings, the decorations and coloring effects are perfect and harmonize in every instance.

The harmony of colors on ceilings and walls of the banking rooms with rich ivory effects and carefully drawn designs, all blend beautifully with the rich Bottochino marble and the San Domingo mahogany and show careful study of harmonious color effects.

The banking room is entirely free from columns, having a clear ceiling height of 40 feet, and is neatly naments and an exceptionally handnaments and an exceptionaly handsome ground glass ceiling dome light one of the largest of its kind ever built, and a beautiful stained glass rear window.

The material for the cabinet work is imported from Central America and finished in a rich dark color, and with the highest of cabinet finish.

The rich marbles used in the counters and wainscoating were imported from the Alps mountains in Northern Italy and are moulded and carved according to the architect's designs, and given a high polish and gloss finish.

The marble tiling of the lobby and public space is of squares of various colored marbles set in a neat and harmonious design.

There are separate writing and waiting rooms for depositors, a separate ladies' room and lavatory, while the officers' rooms are most conveniently arranged, adjacent to the public space and to the working spaces of the bank.

The building is ighted by electricity, heated by steam an dhas the latest improvements in sanitary public fixtures.

The rear of the banking room is occupied by the safe deposit and book vaults, while the director's room is in front of the main room, on the mezzanine floor.

The great safe deposit vault is built entirely clear of the walls of the building and so situated that a view of all its surrounding walls can be obtained. The entire safe deposit department is surrounded by steel grill work, with heavy locked gates and contain private alcoves or document rooms and a parlor or writing room from which is obtained direct entrance to the vault. The safe deposit vault itself is inclosed by heavy fireproof, reinforced concrete walls, and consists of an interlining of many plates of chrome steel.

The combined thickness of the outer door, including the bolt frame is over 14 inches and the weight of the outer door is 16 tons.

The weight of the entire vault is over 40 tons. Several hundred safe deposit boxes will be placed therein. The construction of this vault is as near fireproof and burglar proof as human ingenuity can devise. The book vault has a separate entrance and contains metal book shelves and filing cases. There are also in the basement fireproof steel lined storage vaults for old books and documents and for the storage of valuable trunks, boxes, silver ware, etc., belonging to the safe deposit vault customers.

The Citizens National bank is one of Washington's most notable institutions. It is known throughout the country as one of the best managed and most solid financial institutions. It ranks seventh in the United States and fifth in Pennsylvania on the roll of honor among the 7,000 National banks.

This institution was chartered August 3, 1885. It opened for business on Sept. 5, 1885, in the old brick building opposite the court house, which had previously been used by the Washington Savings bank. Within five years its business had so expanded that it became necessary to erect a new building. While that was in progress the bank had temporary quarters in the old Fulton house, which stood on the present site of the Washington Trust building. On January 1, 1891 it removed to its new building, which was occupied for twenty years and three months. A glance at the following comparatve statement, showing the increase in the assets of the Citizens bank since its organization shows the necessity which compelled it to seek larger quarters:

Jan. 1, 1886.....	$ 150 501, 86
Jan. 1, 1891.....	698,580.02
Jan. 1, 1896.....	722,470.28
Jan. 1, 1901.....	1,308,516.06
Jan. 1, 1906.....	2,927,347.53
Jan. 1, 1911.....	4,788,364.22
April 19, 1911.. .	5,013,458.00

The above shows the great and steady increase in the assets of the Citizens bank by five year periods. The folowing statement showing the condition of the bank at the close of business on last Monday, April 10, 1911, shows the big jump in business which has taken place since the first of January this year.

The officers and directors of this successful financial institution are as follows:

Officers—John W. Donnan, president; John H. Donnan, vice president; N. R. Baker, cashier; R. B. Leslie, assistant cashier.

In the erection of its magnificent bank building the managers of this institution have taken thought for the future. They have confidence in the continued growth and prosperity of Washington county. They believe the expansion of business in this community will be as great as it has been during the twenty years past. They have made arrangements to handle the increased business which may naturally be expected to come to the Citizens bank during that time. They believe that their progressiveness will be appreciated by the people of the county.

Many persons who have visited the largest and best banks in the United States say that no handsomer structure can be found anywhere. It is perfect in all its appointments. The citizens of the county will doubtless avail themselves of the invitation of the officers and directors of the Citizens National bank to attend the opening reception on Saturday between 9 a. m. and 9 p. m.

Woman's Danger Periods Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

Natick, Mass.,—"I cannot express what I went through during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold. I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor.

"I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Nathan B. Greaton, 51 No. Main St., Natick, Mass.

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth.

"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting, I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

MAGEE BILL OF SPECIAL IMPORTANCE TO VALLEY

Measure for Ship Canal Approved by Governor Tener

INTERESTS COAL TRADE

Would be Big Boom to Industry—Other Important Bills Acted Upon

(Special Correspondence)

Harrisburg, April 14—By reason of the benefit to the coal trade in his valley, considerable importance is attached locally to the "Magee Canal Bill" which was approved by Governor J. K. Tener yesterday. The bill was designed to promote the construction of the Lake Erie and Ohio ship canal, and the sponsor was Assemblyman McInerney of Allegheny county.

The bill permits any county to appropriate money or issue bonds in aid of construction of public canals. Counties may also join with other counties, with the Commonwealth, with other States or with the United States.

No county can extend assistance except to a canal which is exclusively a public enterprise under public management and operation. Each county assisting is to receive its proportionate share of any net earnings from the canal. The bill provides the machinery whereby any county along the route of a canal or connected therewith by railway or navigable waters, may extend assistance. If 100 resident taxpayers and qualified electors petition the quarter sessions court that the credit of the county be extended the court is to order an election if satisfied that it will benefit the county. The county commissioners or any other citizen may file objections to such a petition and then a hearing must be held.

If the majority of voters approve the proposition at the election the county commissioners must issue bonds; if the proposition be rejected two years must elapse before a similar election can be held.

The McNichol bill prohibiting lascivious, immoral and indecent theatrical or picture shows under penalty of $1,000 fine and one year in jail was also approved.

The Meyer bill providing for maintenance and quadennial inspection of boundary the monuments was vetoed because the Governor is not convinced of the necessity for such legislation.

MONEY PROVIDED FOR NEW SCHOOLS

A return of the electors held in Marianna to decide the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $35,000 for school purposes has been made. The voters decided favorable. It is proposed to purchase from the Pittsburg-Buffalo Co., the land and school building there at Marianna.

A confidence was held yesterday between the county commissioners, the district attorney, Sheriff Hartzell and attorneys representing the commissioners and the sheriff, it was rumored, for the purpose of asking Hartzell's resignation. Hickman wanted to bet $3 he would escape again.

SALOONS NOT TO BE CLOSED ON HOIDAYS

Judge Taylor Hands Down Opinion Stating Court is Without Authority to Grant Request

Judge J. F. Taylor yesterday handed down a written opinion refusing to grant the request petitioned for by residents of Washington county, chiefly from Monongahela, asking that liquor license holders close their bars on certain holidays. The petition was backed by the Ministerial Association and the G. A. R. of Monongahela, and was largely signed by citizens elsewhere in the county. The holidays designated on which it was desired to have the bars close were New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

According to the opinion of the court the latter has no legal right to grant the request. Judge Taylor states that for the court to make a condition precedent to granting a license would be the rankest kind of judicial legislation. This is a function in no sense to be exercised by the court, no matter how much the latter may be in sympathy with the matter sought. The law is cited which, in the opinion of the court, is not vested in the discretionary powers in granting or refusing a license.

Judge Taylor's opinion was also concurred in by Judge J. A. McIlvaine.

WILL OPEN NEW MINES

Crucible Coal Company Preparing to Start Operation

WILL SHIP COAL BY RIVER

Mines, to be most complete in every respect, are to be opened soon along the Monongahela river, about one and a half miles above Rices Landing in Greene county, by the Crucible Coal company. The coal land, taken recently by this company from the holdings of J. V. Thompson and his associates, amounts to 2,000 acres. Under this acreage the vein of coal averages eight feet in thickness and contains a total of 20,000,000 tons of good coking coal.

On account of the slack water navigation which will be available, the mines are expected to an important adjunct to the coal business in the valley. No coal will be mined for market, all to be shipped mainly by river to other points for use by the Crucible Steel company.

SPRING OPENING LARGELY ATTENDED

Constant streams of humanity pouring in the door and the happy faces to be seen as people made their departure, bore testimony to the popularity of Wagners' Ice Cream parlor, where the annual spring opening was held yesterday afternoon and evening. Tasteful in all details and characterized by the up-to-date manner in which everything was carried out, was this particular event.

The interior was decorated, and to each visitor was given a beautiful souvenir in the shape of a yellow daffodil. During the afternoon and evening the grand new player piano rendered music well adopted to please the musical tastes of the visitors. Delightful extras were served in addition to the regular menu of ice cream and beverages.

Mitchell; secretary, George W. Risbeck; treasurer, T. R. Eagye; tyler, W. O. Brisham; trustee, Tom P. Sloan; representative to grand lodge, H. C. Hormell; alternate representative, R. W. Brown.

Following the rites of installation, a social hour was spent, and a banquet was served at which Sam C. Todd was toastmaster. Talks were made by a number of the visiting brothers.

DEAD MAN MISSING DOCTOR?

Investigations Being Made in Mysterious Death

WAS KNOWN AS REES LEWIS

It is expected that investigations now being made by Monessen authorities into the identity of a man who died at the Grand Hotel there will lead to the discovery that he was Dr. William H. Gray, a prominent practicing physician of Washington, D. C. He arrived in Monessen on Tuesday morning and registered at the Grand Hotel under the name of A. Rees Lewis and said he was from Natrona.

Some days ago a circular was received from Chief of Police Richard Sylvester of Washington, D. C., by the local police officials in which it stated that Dr. William H. Gray had become demented and had disappeared.

When the body was removed from the hotel to the undertaking rooms last night it was remarked by the police that the picture which had been sent them from Washington resembled the dead man. An examination of the clothing and papers found on him is said to have confirmed the suggestion that the dead man was the missing physician.

Judge Taylor Hands Down Opinion in Two Cases

JUDGE M'ILLVAIN CONCURS

Refusal Based on Strict Construction of the Brooks Law

The two tap houses, one at Ellsworth and one at Cokeburg, have been refused liquor licenses for the coming year. Opinions in the cases were handed down by the court at Washington yesterday written by Judge J. F. Taylor, before whom the arguments were heard. Judge McIlvaine later filed concurring opinions. The action of the court is considered a great victory for the Anti-Saloon League and Jerome Plummer Temperance Fund forces.

The opinions are rendered on motions made by the anti-liquor forces, to have the applications quashed, for the reason that other than the applicants were pecuniarily interested in these bar rooms and for that reason they were clearly a violation of the Brooks law. The Brooks law requires that none except the person named in the application for a license, shall be pecuciarily interested in the license.

The arguments were made on Monday. Attorneys Harry F. Moore and H. D. Hamilton appeared for the temperance people. Attorney R. W. Irwin, counsel for the Ellsworth Collieries company, argued for the applicants.

The application from Ellsworth is made in the name of H. John Knitzer, and from Cokeburg in the name of William Lodwick. Ellsworth and Cokeburg have had licenses at these tap houses ever since the two towns were established. An agreement referred to in the application was the point upon which the temperance forces made their fight against the applications. The men applying were simply paid a salary and the profits from the bars were paid into a trust fund for the benefit of the boroughs of Ellsworth and Cokeburg.

The refusal of these two licenses means that in three of the big coal towns of the county there will be no bars after May 1. The Marianna bar was refused a renewal of its license at the last license court, and now these two at Ellsworth and Cokeburg will have to close after May 1. The license at Fredericktown was also knocked out at the last license court, and that bar will close up the first of May.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

The ability of Bobby Wallace to make good as the manager of the St Louis Browns is the popular topic of the fans in the Mound City at the present time Bobby has always been a good ball player, and his record on the field is one that the best of the diamond stars might be proud of. His friends feel sure that he will be equally successful in his new berth, provided he is given full power over the players Of course Wallace may not bring the Browns up from last place to champions in a year, but his handling of the team will pave the way for first class results in following seasons. Wallace belongs to the silent class of ball players, his methods being those of Frank Chance and Connie Mack rather than the blustery, noisy sort He has delivered his ultimatum to the players, and the latter will have to knuckle down and deliver the goods if they expect to get along with the new manager.

Goulding After Olympic Title.

George Goulding, the famous walker, who broke the American record for walking two miles in New York recently, is pointing for the Olympic games, which will be held in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1912. Despite the fact that Goulding is breaking records at the present time, he is not now at the top of his form The Toronto wonder is conserving his energy for next year, and, beyond taking long walks and going into a race now and then, Goulding is doing very little athletic work Goulding's hopes are all for the Swedish Olympiad It is his intense desire to win the walking events at Stockholm in world's record time and then retire as an undefeated champion

Strange as it may seem, Goulding does not especially fear the British walkers who will start at the coming Olympiad but, rather, some of the men who have recently come to the front in Australia.

Chess Men to Go Abroad.

Appreciating the good showing made by American representatives, particularly Capablanca and Marshall, in chess tourneys abroad, Europeans are disposed to extend the hand of fellowship to others of the experts of this country with a view to their participating in future international congresses

The next tourney scheduled to be held on the other side will be at Carlsbad, in Bohemia, next August.

Victor Tietz, president of the Carlsbad Chess club, has written to New York experts inquiring about Oscar Chajes of Chicago and Charles Jaffe of New York, who finished just below Marshall and Capablanca in the recent national masters' tournament and tied for third and fourth prizes. It is the intention of the Carlsbad committee to invite both of these clever experts and give them an opportunity to show their ability in an international contest

Thompson to Compete Again.

Fred Thompson, who won the all around championships at Chicago last fall, says he is anxious to compete again for the title and that he will soon start training at Princeton

"The biggest reason for causing me to wish to enter the all around meet this year is not the lure of the game, but to feel that I have had a fair chance at Sheridan's record," says Thompson "It is a very easy thing to argue from a qualified success in the past to an unqualified and unfounded success in the future, but I feel fair in thinking that I will be able to score 800 points"

"This will be my last attempt," says Thompson, who is a theological student at Princeton "I do not care particularly for athletics in general, but believe I can make a score in the all arounds that will better the record by a few hundred points."

Pitcher Has Jaw Breaking Name.

A Crow's Stratagem.

A crow had been captured by the children in a southern family and brought home and tamed They were very fond of the crow and treated it with kindness As in most houses where there are children, there was also a pet cat. The cat and crow were not friendly One day an unusually nice morsel was given to the cat. This the crow not only looked at with envious eyes, but made several attempts to secure The cat beat off each attempt, however, and the crow had to resort to stratagem. Disappearing through the open door, he returned in a few moments with a long string that had been raveled from a rag carpet. Placing this on the floor some little distance in front of the cat, he proceeded to wriggle it as he had seen the children do when playing with the cat. The cat instantly jumped to catch the string. This was, of course, exactly what the crow wanted, and he pounced upon the coveted morsel and flew away with it.—Harper's Weekly.

Parsimony and Economy.

"Papa," said a child, "what is the difference between parsimony and economy?"

"I will explain the difference by an example," the father replied. "If I cut down my own expenses that is economy, but if I cut down your mother's then it is parsimony."

His Suggestion.

The great road builder had his mind on his work that morning, as the following dialogue between him and his wife will show:

"How do I look, dear?"

"Fairly well, but I should say that your face needed resurfacing."—New York Press.

Two Faults.

"You hunt too much," said Louis XV. to the archbishop of Narbonne. "How can you prohibit your curates from hunting if you pass your life in setting them such an example?"

"Sire," said Dillon, "for my curates the chase is a fault; for myself it is the fault of my ancestors."

James A. O'Gorman, New Senator From New York.

James A. O'Gorman, who was elected senator from New York to succeed Chauncey M. Depew, is a Democrat and for the past eleven years has been on the bench of the supreme court of New York.

In 1902 O'Gorman was elected grand sachem of the Tammany society. This is a much coveted position, carrying with it great honor, but little power. The grand sachem of Tammany Hall is theoretically the leader of the organization.

Since then Justice O'Gorman has been honored by two universities. In 1904 he was made an LL.D. by Villanova college, and in 1908 a like degree was bestowed upon him by the University of the City of New York.

Justice O'Gorman has always been a warm advocate of organized labor. He is a prominent member of the Catholic club and was chairman of the board of trustees of the '98 Centennial association, a national movement designed to perpetuate the patriotic memories of the Irish rebellion of 1798.

The new senator is a native of New York city and is fifty-one years old. He is a graduate of the College of the City of New York and of the New York University Law School. In 1892 he was elected justice of the district court and on the expiration of his term was elevated to the supreme bench.

Culberson's Inquiry.

Senator Charles A. Culberson of Dallas, Tex., was once making a political speech, and some of his auditors showed a disposition to "heckle" him, as they say in England. After a rhetorical pause (according to the tale as it is told around the capitol) a man in the audience asked:

"Do you drink?"

Without any hesitation the senator responded quickly:

"Is that an inquiry or an invitation?"

It was in Texas, and the audience roared.

Mr. Pujo of Louisiana.

Congressman Arsene P. Pujo of Louisiana, chairman of the committee on banking and currency in the Sixty-second congress, has served three terms in the national legislature. In the last congress Mr. Pujo was ranking minority member on this committee, so by seniority as well as by ability he was entitled to be exalted. In organizing the new house committee the Democratic members of ways and means have generally recognized the rule of priority in giving out chairmanships, but not in all cases, so there has been grumbling in some quarters.

Banking and currency is one of the big committees of the house. During the extra session its duties will probably be only nominal, but when the monetary commission hands in its report to the regular session there will be work a-plenty. Representative Pujo is a native of Louisiana and is in his fiftieth year. He is of French descent and is a lawyer by profession. He was a member of the Louisiana constitutional convention of 1898, serving on the judiciary committee of that body.

Playing Politics

In placing the advertising of the mercantile appraisers list, the county commissioners have shown themselves to be strictly in the political game. In the hope of placating certain newspaper influences that were hostile to them on the occasion of their nomination and election for their first term, and which were understood to be preparing to inaugurate a vigorous campaign against their renomination, the commissioners turned over to their whilom enemies a large and profitable amount of business. The administration newspapers of the Monongahela valley that fought the battles for the present board of commissioners, who could not have been nominated without the support received in this section, have been totally ignored, and the newspaper that was most bitterly and offensively hostile to John K. Tener, both in his Congressional and Gubernatorial campaigns, is rewarded.

In addition to the valley newpapers feeling sore over this exhibition of political ingratitude, the people of this community have also been dealt with unfairly. The mercantile appraiser's list contains information that is interesting and instructive to the public. This section is largely represented in the list, yet the person who seeks information concerning it must go to considerable trouble to get it. The object of advertising the list is presumably to serve the public, but the present board of commissioners evidently are of the opinion it is a proper medium for serving political ends. That could be the only reason for placing the advertising in two Washington newspapers, instead of seeking to place it so that it would cover at least the most populous section of the county.

Hope For Pittsburg

Pittsburg and Boston are the only American cities which have considered the problem of city planning in a practical way, according to Professor George B. Ford of Columbia. Lecturing before a popular audience recently Professor Ford said: "It is strange that the most practical Nation in the world should heed the cry of the 'city beautiful' rather than for the 'city logical, convenient, healthful and business-like.' There are seventy or eighty cities in America that have taken up city planning, but only two have treated the subject in a comprehensive, practical way. One of the two is perhaps America's most business-like city, the other is her most artistic. Pittsburg and Boston alone have kept prominently before them in planning for their futures that a city is essentially a place to live and work in.

"Thus, attention has been given to housing, transit and transportation by land and by water and to the location of factories. Recreational features, such as playgrounds, neighborhood centers and the location of baths, gymnasiums, libraries etc., have been considered in relation to housing. The proper distribution of parks, and boulevards and city embellishments has been taken up with strict reference to the foregoing features.

"It is only by proceeding on a program of this sort that a city can fulfil its duty toward the next generation."

PICKED UP IN PASSING

In the May number of the Cosmopolitan in the "Story Tellers' Hall of Fun," appears the following about Governor John K. Tener:

"John K. Tener, the new Governor of Pennsylvania, is an inveterate smoker, and choice as to his selection of cigars. Lighting a Havana recently, he said:

"'The Londoners are indifferent about their tobacco—indifferent and blase, like an omnibus conductor I saw in Oxford street.

"'You know the London omnibus? It is a double decker. If you sit on top you must go up and down by a very steep stairway.

"'Well, this blase conductor pulled up his bus at Regent Circus and the ladies bound for Peter Robinson's eagerly got out. But one fat lady, who had been sitting on top, came down the steep and winding stairs very slowly. Her skirt flopped around her ankles, and at every step she stopped and thrust it carefully down. The conductor waited with a bored expression, his hand on the bell rope, but he lost patience when the fat lady stopped for the fifth or sixth time to thrust down her billowing skirt, and he burst out angrily:

"'Now, then, lydy, 'urry up, can't yer? Figgers ain't no treat to me!'"

In the same number is another good story—about Governor Tener's Attorney General, John C. Bell, who according to Executive Controller Samuel S. Todd, is a most excellent and capable official. The story is told by Justice John P. Elkin of the State Supreme Court, who was a schoolmate of Mr. Bell.

"John," says Justice Elkin, "was a stubborn youth, and the teacher had all kinds of trouble with him. I remember he insisted on saying 'have went,' and to correct him the teacher compelled him to remain after school one day and write 'have gone' three hundred times.'

"After scribbling 'have gone' until his hand ached, John appended this note to the bottom of the sheet of paper

"I have done my work and have went home.'"

THE VALLEY NEWS

Abraham Guggenslocker's hoss got run over by the kyars. Sally Snigglefritz's speckled hen had the croup last night. Troubles! Troubles!! Troubles!!! Read below and you'll forget your troubles:

HOW THE STORY WAS FINISHED

The Office Hack Gets a Start In Literature.

The editorial staff of the Pacific Magazine consisted of, first, the editor and proprietor, Edward Farnham, capitalist and litterateur; two readers and a young man named Arthur Otis, who did odd jobs in the "making up" that were not considered of sufficient importance to take up the time of the others.

One day Mr. Farnham laid a manuscript novel on Otis' desk and said: "There's a novel by Donald Fox. I want you to go over it and get it ready for the printer." Mr. Farnham usually gave his orders to Otis especially, without comment, but today he was very much pleased and added: "We must begin that in May. I've been keeping a place for it. Anything by Fox will increase the circulation 50 per cent. It ought to. It cost 10 cents a word for the serial right alone. This is the best thing, in my judgment, he's ever done; a new departure; not a bit in his usual style."

Otis never made a reply to anything the head of the concern said. He took the manuscript and began to work upon it immediately. The next day he took it to his chief and pointed out what he considered a defect, suggesting that it be referred back to the author to be changed. Mr. Farnham scowled, examined the pages referred to and told Otis that he was not employed to tell eminent writers how to write novels.

When Otis had concluded his work he laid the manuscript on Mr. Farnham's desk and remarked:

"I see, sir, that the work is not finished."

"Mr. Fox has promised to have it all in by the required time."

"But, sir," said the clerk, as a shade of anxiety passed over his face, "don't you fear that if anything should happen to Mr. Fox"—

"Well?" said the manager in icy tone.

"Could any one else finish it?"

"No, but I'm going to take the risk."

In due time the story appeared, and its reception was far beyond what the manager had looked for. The criticisms were fine, all critics noting the new departure of the author.

One day when the story had been running six months Otis noticed a gentleman whom he was told was the celebrated Donald Fox talking with the manager. After the visitor had gone Mr. Farnham brought a package to Otis' desk.

"The closing chapters of Fox's great novel," he said.

The next morning Otis stood by his chief's desk waiting permission to speak.

"Well?" said the manager, looking up.

"Have you read these chapters of Mr. Fox's novel?" asked the understrapper.

"No."

"They are entirely unlike the rest. The public will not believe Mr. Fox wrote them. They are very abrupt."

It was on the chief's tongue to tell his subordinate to attend to his own business, but the last words changed the impulse. Since the author was to be paid 10 cents a word for the work it would not be to his interest to close it abruptly.

"Leave it," said the chief.

For the next few days Otis sat at his desk surrounded by a cyclone. From what he overheard he judged that Fox had confessed that he had hired a literary man who had done some good work to write the story at 5 cents a word. The author had been taken ill and died when the work was about two-thirds finished. Fox had hurriedly written the last chapters himself.

As soon as he gathered this information Otis walked humbly to the chief's desk.

"Like it? We're in the biggest hole"—

He stopped short. He remembered that Otis had warned him of this very possibility.

"Was there any understanding with Mr. Fox as to the length of the story?" asked Otis.

Farnham looked at the young man with amazement. None of his employees had ever dared ask him about the terms of his contracts before.

"Do you know your business?"

"Yes, sir. But"—

"Well, do it, and let other people's business alone."

"I've understood that Mr. Fox was to get 10 cents a word and that he sublet the work for 5 cents a word, but I don't know how long the story was to be."

"Well, sir, why should you know?"

"Because—the fact is, Mr. Farnham, I'm interested."

"Interested! You impudent"—

"Yes, sir; pecuniarily interested. You see, Mr. Farnham, Mr. Fox got 10 cents a word and sublet it to Andy Nichols at 5 cents. Nichols sublet it to me at 2 cents a word. That's pretty poor pay, you know, but if I'm to be permitted to string it out I can make a good thing after all."

There was a dead silence in the editorial rooms for thirty seconds. Then the chief said:

"Run it to suit yourself at 10 cents a word."

And that's how Arthur Otis got his start in literature.

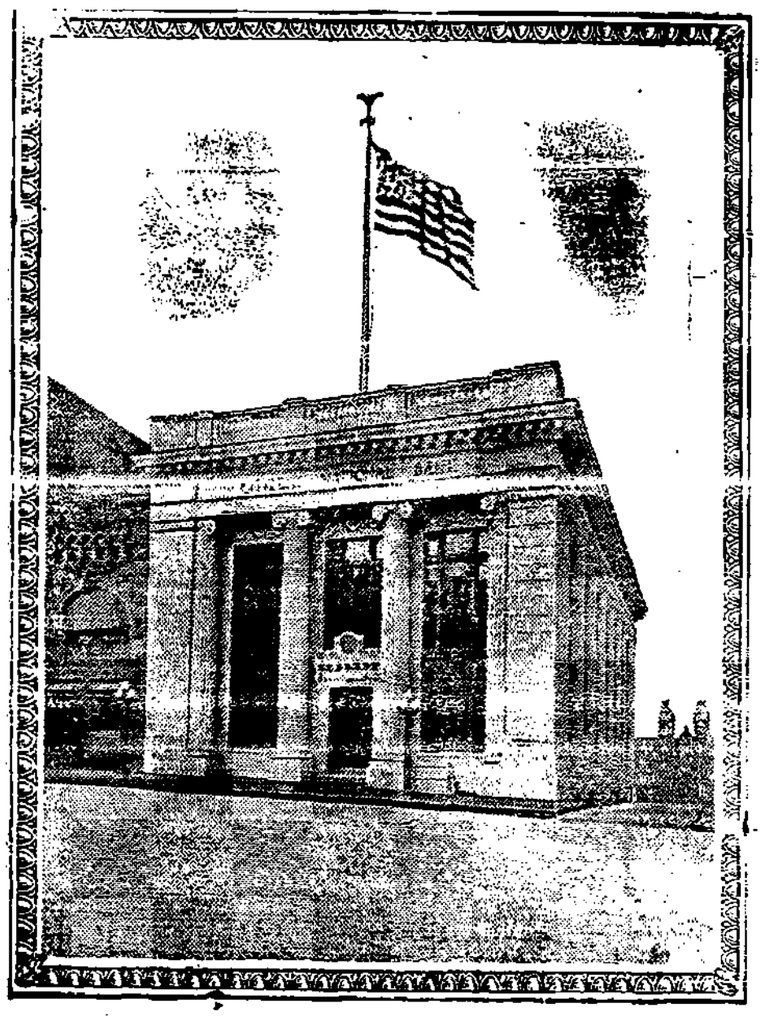
MAGNIFICIENT NEW BANK BUILDING NOW READY

Beautiful Marble Structure To Be Opened Saturday. Every Facility Offered to Depositors—A Credit to Washington County



Patrons and friends of the Citizens National Bank will be welcomed to inspect the new building rooms and safe deposit vaults on Saturday from 9 a. m., to 9 p.m.

It will be worth while to look over the new home of this institution which has been established so many years and which is one of the strongest national banks of the country.

The magnificient new bank building represents, with the lot, an investment of at least $300,000. Architecturally it is the most beautiful and symmetrical banking building in the country and will forever stand as a monument to the enterprise, good judgment and excellent taste of the present officers and directors of the institution.

The exterior of the building is of the very best of white polished tooled marble, while in the interior, every piece of polished wood work, every section of the marble, the bronze trimmings, the decorations and coloring effects are perfect and harmonize in every instance.

The harmony of colors on ceilings and walls of the banking rooms with rich ivory effects and carefully drawn designs, all blend beautifully with the rich Bottochino marble and the San Domingo mahogany and show careful study of harmonious color effects.

The banking room is entirely free from columns, having a clear ceiling height of 40 feet, and is neatly naments and an exceptionaly handnaments and an exceptionaly handsome ground glass ceiling dome light one of the largest of its kind ever built, and a beautiful stained glass rear window.

The material for the cabinet work is imported from Central America and finished in a rich dark color, and with the highest of cabinet finish.

The rich marbles used in the counters and wainscoating were imported from the Alps mountains in Northern Italy and are moulded and carved according to the architect's designs, and given a high polish and gloss finish.

The marble tiling of the lobby and public space is of squares of various colored marbles set in a neat and harmonious design.

There are separate writing and waiting rooms for depositors, a separate ladies' room and lavatory, while the officers' rooms are most conveniently arranged, adjacent to the public space and to the working spaces of the bank.

The building is ighted by electricity, heated by steam an dhas the latest improvements in sanitary public fixtures.

The rear of the banking room is occupied by the safe deposit and book vaults, while the director's room is in front of the main room, on the mezzanine floor.

The great safe deposit vault is built entirely clear of the walls of the building and so situated that a view of all its surrounding walls can be obtained. The entire safe deposit department is surrounded by steel grill work, with heavy locked gates and contain private alcoves or document rooms and a parlor or writing room from which is obtained direct entrance to the vault. The safe deposit vault itself is inclosed by heavy fireproof, reinforced concrete walls, and consists of an interlining of many plates of chrome steel.

The combined thickness of the outer door, including the bolt frame is over 14 inches and the weight of the outer door is 16 tons.

The weight of the entire vault is over 40 tons. Several hundred safe deposit boxes will be placed therein. The construction of this vault is as near fireproof and burglar proof as human ingenuity can devise. The book vault has a separate entrance and contains metal book shelves and filing cases. There are also in the basement fireproof steel lined storage vaults for old books and documents and for the storage of valuable trunks, boxes, silver ware, etc., belonging to the safe deposit vault customers.

The Citizens National bank is one of Washington's most notable institutions. It is known throughout the country as one of the best managed and most solid financial institutions. It ranks seventh in the United States and fifth in Pennsylvania on the roll of honor among the 7,000 National banks.

This institution was chartered August 3, 1885. It opened for business on Sept. 5, 1885, in the old brick building opposite the court house, which had previously been used by the Washington Savings bank. Within five years its business had so expanded that it became necessary to erect a new building. While that was in progress the bank had temporary quarters in the old Fulton house, which stood on the present site of the Washington Trust building. On January 1, 1891 it removed to its new building, which was occupied for twenty years and three months. A glance at the following comparatve statement, showing the increase in the assets of the Citizens bank since its organization shows the necessity which compelled it to seek larger quarters:

Jan. 1, 1886.....	$ 150,501.86
Jan. 1, 1891.....	698,580.02
Jan. 1, 1896.....	722,470.28
Jan. 1, 1901.....	1,308,516.06
Jan. 1, 1906.....	2,927,347.53
Jan. 1, 1911.....	4,788,364.22
April 19, 1911.....	5,013,458.00

The above shows the great and steady increase in the assets of the Citizens bank by five year periods. The folowing statement showing the condition of the bank at the close of business on last Monday, April 10, 1911, shows the big jump in business which has taken place since the first of January this year.

The officers and directors of this successful financial institution are as follows:

Officers—John W. Donnan, president; John H. Donnan, vice president; N. R. Baker, cashier; R. B. Leslie, assistant cashier.

In the erection of its magnificent bank building the managers of this institution have taken thought for the future. They have confidence in the continued growth and prosperity of Washington county. They believe the expansion of business in this community will be as great as it has been during the twenty years past. They have made arrangements to handle the increased business which may naturally be expected to come to the Citizens bank during that time. They believe that their progressiveness will be appreciated by the people of the county.

Many persons who have visited the largest and best banks in the United States say that no handsomer structure can be found anywhere. It is perfect in all its appointments. The citizens of the county will doubtless avail themselves of the invitation of the officers and directors of the Citizens National bank to attend the opening reception on Saturday between 9 a. m. and 9 p. m.

Woman's Danger Periods Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

Natick, Mass.,—"I cannot express what I went through during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold. I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor.

"I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Nathan B. Greaton, 51 No. Main St., Natick, Mass.

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth.

"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting, I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.
